NEWS UPDATE

April 6, 2023

Adobe Certified Professional
2023 certification exams are here!

The Adobe Certified Professional 2023 certifications exams are now available in English with additional languages being released later this year. For a complete list of all 2023 exam and language releases check out our release schedule here. Updated 2023 CertPREP practice tests will soon be available and listed on our release schedule as well. The 2020 Adobe exam versions will be retiring at the end of June this year, 2021 and 2022 exams will remain available.

There are no changes to the exam objectives, the 2023 version release is in place to remain compatible with Adobe's annual software updates. Please review the Adobe program support page here to ensure all technical requirements are met for Compass exam delivery.

Discover how to teach and support first generation college students

First generation college students face unique challenges in the collegiate environment, but they also hold unique cultural capital that helps them succeed. The staff at the University of California, Riverside (UCR) have seen that first hand.

In our latest CERTIFIED podcast episode, we discuss the resources first generation college students have leveraged at UCR, and how the administration is taking an empathetic approach to the first-generation experience. Our guests also give incredible suggestions for how to demystify, humanize, and personalize the college experience to help all your students succeed.
